THE TOBACCO INSTITUTE
STATE ACTIVITIES DIVISION

1985 LOCAL LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITY

Executive Summary

Introduction

The tobacco industry was successful in defeating two-thirds of the local cigarette tax increases introduced in 1985 and all proposed sampling bans. Local smoking restriction activity continued to grow with increased emphasis on the workplace, but industry efforts defeated or delayed consideration of more than half the smoking restriction measures introduced in city and county governments this year. The issue of advertising restrictions grew at the local level, as did hiring discrimination against smokers, particularly in public safety positions. The clove cigarette issue began to spark some local government concern in 1985.

State Activities Division monitored a total of 281 proposals affecting the industry at the local government level. Of these measures, 232 (82.6 percent) were smoking restriction proposals; 18 (6.4 percent) concerned local cigarette taxes; 11 (3.9 percent) would have prohibited or restricted sampling or advertising of tobacco products; and a single ordinance (0.4 percent) would have mandated "self-extinguishing" cigarettes. The remaining local legislative proposals concerned hiring restrictions, clove cigarettes and various other issues.

Industry successes in the state legislative arena often prompt further challenges at the local level. And, due to the less regimented nature of local government bodies, defeated proposals often do not remain dead for long. In 1986, the tobacco industry can expect increasing local anti-tobacco activity, particularly in the issues of cigarette taxes, workplace smoking restrictions and advertising bans.

Smoking Restrictions

Continuing the pattern of previous years, California cities and counties produced over one-third of all local smoking restriction activity and accounted for one-half of all approved restriction ordinances. This year, California anti-smoking groups began concerted efforts in targetted areas beyond major population centers, presenting "model" restriction ordinances simultaneously to the county board of supervisors and to officials of each incorporated city within the county. In Contra Costa County, for example, an anti-smoking coalition tied its activity to the November "Smokeout" day and persuaded the County and 15 of its 18 cities to adopt smoking restrictions in the workplace, restaurants and other places open to the public.

Restaurant restrictions before Massachusetts Health Boards and at Town Meetings, accounted for one-eighth of approved restrictions. Colorado's local restriction activity increased to about the same level as Massachusetts' this year. Three Colorado cities passed referenda for restriction ordinances and nine others adopted measures by council action. New York and Florida communities also saw considerable activity on the issue, although local Florida restrictions were preempted in mid-year by state legislation.

Restriction efforts increased significantly during 1985 in states beyond these traditional hotbeds of anti-smoking activity. Anti-smoking legislation was approved in major cities of Arizona, Texas and Ohio and provoked considerable "copycat" activity in neighboring communities. This spread of anti-smoking activity is expected to continue -- and increase -- through 1986.

Cigarette Taxes

Local cigarette taxes are authorized in only a handful of states, and are most numerous in Alabama, Missouri and Virginia. Marceline, MO, repealed its local cigarette tax this year, and tax increases were rejected in two other cities in the state. Four Alabama localities raised cigarette taxes during 1985, while increases were rejected in three others. One Virginia city imposed a new cigarette tax; new taxes were defeated in two other towns. Late in the year, an increase in the Chicago, IL, tax was suggested to fund salary hikes but was rejected.

The combined impact on local finances from federal budget cuts under the Gramm-Rudman measure and expiration of the revenue-sharing program is expected to result in increased local interest in cigarette taxation in 1986. Introduction of state authorizing legislation is anticipated in states beyond those currently allowing local excise taxes.

Sampling & Advertising

A proposed ban on sampling of tobacco products was defeated in Milwaukee, WI, while long-pending measures in Chicago, IL, and New York City, carried over without action. No other sampling ban measures were introduced in 1985.

In Honolulu, HI, the Mayor vetoed an ordinance banning tobacco and alcoholic beverage advertising from city buses. (The proposal was later reintroduced affecting tobacco products only.) Los Angeles County prohibited such advertising from being placed on county beach facilities, but similar proposals in three other localities failed after only cursory consideration.

Increased attention at the state and federal level regarding smokeless tobacco products sparked renewed state legislative activity in sampling and advertising restrictions during the year, and such efforts may be expected to spill over into more local activity during 1986.

TAXATION

CIGARETTE EXCISE INCREASE
O.T.P. TAX INCREASE
EARMARKING: OTHER USES

STATUS : APPROVED
SPONSOR : W.C. BUTTRAM
COMMITTEE :

Would increase local cigarette tax from 1 cent to 8 cents and impose it on O.T.P. (currently untaxed). Would require approval of state legislature. Revenues would be used for county employee salaries.

3/16/85

County Commission voted 3-1 to seek state legislative approval for cigarette tax increase.

3/28/85

Local legislators introduced H 1028 and S 703 to authorize DeKalb County to increase cigarette tax.

5/09/85

Authorizing legislation passed by state legislature. Governor's approval is expected. Local tax may go into effect immediately, probably 6/1/85.

6/18/85

County has no mechanism in place to collect tax, and state legislation did not empower state revenue department to collect it, thus new 8-cent tax has not yet gone into effect.

8/12/85

County Commission voted to provide mechanism for collecting 8-cent tax on tobacco products by repealing 1985 legislation and amending 1975 law (which included collection mechanism) from 1 cent tax to 8 cents.

COMMITTEE :

Would amend county workplace and public places ordinance approved in December.

In February, seven amendments to county workplace ordinance adopted in December 1984 were proposed; County Board agreed to consider two:

- 1) Revise "antidiscrimination clause" to prohibit "retaliation" against persons seeking enforcement of ordinance, and make violation of provision a civil offense.
- 2) Require accommodation in the workplace of "reasonable" preferences of nonsmokers.

Five other amendments were drafted by County Counsel, but not considered by Board of Supervisors at this time:

- Permit transportation terminals and airports to designate up to 50 percent of seating as smoking areas.
- Include County Courthouse in ordinance (currently exempt).
- Exempt commercial enterprises with fewer than 5 employees from workplace provisions.
- Require restaurants to inform patrons verbally that nonsmoking sections are provided.
- Remove criminal sanctions and designate Department of Health to prosecute violations as civil offenses.

In October, Board of Supervisor agreed to Health Director's recommendations to:

- Include County Courthouses in ordinance.
- Allow employers with more than one lunchroom or lounge to designate one entirely for smoking.
- Prohibit smoking in bowling and scorekeeping areas of bowling alleys.

12/12/84

County Board of Supervisors approved workplace restrictions and expansion of existing smoking restrictions. Board set 2/5/85 hearing on proposed amendments.

2/05/85

Seven amendments drafted by County Counsel were considered. County Board agreed to amendments regarding antidiscrimination protection for both smokers and nonsmokers and requiring reasonable preferences of nonsmokers. Minor changes were made and these two amendments were to be redrafted by the County Counsel and then presented to the Board 2/19/85.

The other five amendments were set aside for consideration when the mandated 6-month review of the ordinance is made.

2/19/85

Board of Supervisors discussed amendments as re-drafted by County Counsel. Final vote will be at next meeting.

2/26/85

Board of Supervisors gave final approval to amendments to workplace ordinance.

9/27/85

County Health Director held review of ordinance and possible amendments to be proposed to County Board of Supervisors when it holds 6-month review in October.

10/24/85

County Health Director proposed amendments to Board of Supervisors: including County Courthouse in ordinance using policies already adopted by Municipal and Superior Courts as restriction language; prohibiting smoking in bowling and scorekeeping areas of bowling alleys; allowing entire workplace lunchroom or lounge to be smoking-permitted if an entirely nonsmoking room is also provided.

11/13/85

Board of Supervisors voted to amend restriction ordinance as recommended by Health Director. Precise language to be drafted by County Counsel.
